PLAID
DADI IV

Like a roll of the dice, the Dadi Plaid can inspire an assortment of looks simply by folding the refined color combinations of both sides together. This pleasantly heavy blanket is woven in a small Nepalese manufactory above Katmandu on a traditional loom especially built for Gisbert Pöppler large enough to produce one up to 3.20 x 3.20 cm! The plaid is woven with naturally dyed yarn, spun from virgin Mongolian cashmere, simultaneously in double face, with different colors on the front and back sides. (Front side red & lightblue, back blue & orange).
